

The World Congress On Medical Acupuncture

HOLIDAY SEASON

Every summer, the French Riviera experiences an influx of tourists from all over France and all around the World: its charm lies in the air and water temperatures, which are perfect for outdoor living. Water sports, hiking in the hinterland, discovering the cultural riches of a region that has preserved its rich past.

ANTIBES- JUAN-LES-PINS charms visitors with its historic charm surrounded by ramparts, cobbled streets, Provençal market and museums, including the famous Picasso Museum housed in the Grimaldi Castle.

CAP D'ANTIBES offers coastal paths with breathtaking views, particularly from the Garoupe plateau, where the lighthouse and Notre-Dame de la Garoupe chapel stand.

Other surprises await us as we wander the streets of the free commune of Safranier.

This is what we invite you to discover on Monday Nov 10th in a post-conference event to continue meeting with our colleagues who wish to extend their stay in a relaxed atmosphere, since November 11th is a bank holiday in our countries.

Clinical Research in Acupuncture : We are all researchers, and every day we create usable data to enrich databases. Lisa Taylor-Swanson, co-president of the SAR will present the collaborative research tool that the Society for Acupuncture Research wishes to distribute at the ICMART conference in order to collect vast amounts of anonymized data, thereby enabling the production of knowledge through pragmatic and concrete data.
